Short Presentation: Soon to celebrate 40 years of teaching, the University of Picardy has come a long way. It has taken up a twofold challenge:

- to welcome and train more than 21 000 students
- to develop professional training courses which are now recognized on the labour market.

UPJV concentrates on quality rather than quantity, aiming to transmit knowledge and to maintain a high level of teaching. Our focus is on the demand for highly qualified executives in Picardy, both in the social science field and others. The multi-disciplinary university plays an important role in town planning and economic development.
